Coffee	lb.	5,000	4,800 to 9,000
Tea (cheap)	lb.	4,500	---
USA Cigarettes (pkg of 20)		---	1,000
Flour (West Canadian)	47 lb.	46,000	40,000
Flour (White Chinese)	47 lb.	44,000	32,000

25X1A6a ([REDACTED]) Note: The coal prices in the above charts are the black market prices, as coal direct from the mines is controlled by the fuel administration and is available only to official and military installations such as the Chinese Army and American military installations. Civilians, and civilian organizations such as schools and churches must obtain coal from the black market. "Legal coal" from the Kailan Mining Administration was formerly CNC$58,000 per ton for lump coal. There is a very wide range of quality of slack coal on the black market. The slack which the housewife bought for CNC $118,000 per ton was probably a very low grade.
